Established 1869. BELLEFONTE, PA., THURSDAY, JULY 17, 1924 Vol. 55 No. 28

STATE POLICE RAIDED TWO HOMES AT JULIAN

Booze, Mash and Six Stills Confiscated By Officers

BOOTLEGGERS CAUGHT

Two state policemen from Hollidaysburg station—Sergeant E. Jimcoski and a pal—swooped quietly down on the village of Julian in Bald Eagle valley on Saturday night and raided two homes with surprising results. In fact, nineteen gallons of moonshine liquor, quantities of mash and six stills were confiscated.

Four alleged bootleggers (one a woman) were caught and placed under arrest being Mrs. Marcella Beal, her son-in-law William Dando, John White and William Hale. A fifth was implicated being William Burns, it is alleged. He was in Bellefonte at the time.

Those arrested furnished bail for their appearance at Court. Dando and one of his friends was in Bellefonte this week and employed counsel to defend himself.

The arrest was the culmination perhaps of a reign of misconduct among a few persons in Julian and vicinity that seemed to be resented by the better residents who made information against some parties. As a result, the state police were sent in plain clothes and their real motive was not suspected when the sergeant went into the Beal home and said, it is alleged, "I was sent here by Burns for five gallons of liquor," and that Mrs. Beal was placed under arrest when she started to get the "goods."

The other arrests followed in order. Some folks have circulated a story that a number of the stills were in operation when the officers visited the homes but this could not be substantiated.

Burns was notified by the officers and appeared at the office of Kline Woodring, a justice of the peace in Bellefonte, on Tuesday and furnished bail in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance in court. A. C. Gingery, of Bellefonte, was his bondsman.

This Thursday morning all but Burns appeared before Justice Woodring for a hearing, which was in progress when "The Republican" went to press.

Kiwanis News.

At the regular noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club of Bellefonte on Tuesday at the Bush House a program for the ensuing year's work was briefly outlined. It included carrying on of the hospital work, a more beautiful Bellefonte, Kiwanis business show, a Kiwanis minstrel, placing of Kiwanis welcome signs at town entrances and development of a spirit of unanimity for a greater and better Bellefonte along with the regular Kiwanis program to help the underprivileged child. A feature of the meeting was presentation of the Kiwanis members' greetings and remembrances in honor of the new son born to Rev. and Mrs. Ard, including a baby's bath tub which was filled with useful articles from a bank account to a rattle. Addresses were made by Judge Henry C. Quigley and Prof. Arthur H. Sloop.

Altoona Car Smashed.

The automobile of Miles E. Zettle, of Altoona, got the worst of a smashup which happened at the turn on the state highway, at Pleasant Gap, on July 9. Mr. Zettle, with his family and mother, motored to Bellefonte to visit relatives, and was on his way back to Altoona, when he stopped at the crossroads to get his bearings. Two cars were coming up the road at a rapid pace, trying to pass each other. One driven by Maida Hoover, of Birmingham, ran into the Zettle car, completely smashing it. According to Zettle, Hoover admitted that the accident was his fault and offered to make good for the damage. None of the occupants of either car was hurt.

The Lutheran Reunion.

One of the outstanding events of Central Pennsylvania is the Lutheran Reunion, which is annually held at Lakemont Park, Altoona. Thousands of Lutherans and friends meet, listen to music and addresses, eat and have fellowship together. The thirty-ninth annual reunion will be held on Thursday, July 24. An interesting program has been prepared. In the morning at 10:30 o'clock, Dr. C. M. Jacobs, of Philadelphia, will speak on the subject, "The Church an International Fellowship." At 2:30, Dr. G. Albert Getty, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church of York, will speak on "The Things Which are Caesar's." The Loysville Orphans' Home Band will play at each of these meetings and will render a concert in the evening. Everybody is invited. The ladies of the Temple Lutheran Church of Altoona will serve good meals—dinner and supper—at reasonable prices. There are convenient parking facilities at Lakemont.

GIRL LOST IN MOUNTAIN MET RATTLER IN CABIN

FOUND BY SEARCHERS

A lot of excitement was afforded residents of Snow Shoe and Bellefonte, last Friday when word reached here that a Miss Catherine Webster, of Plainfield, N. J., was lost in the mountains along Wallace Run.

Miss Webster, who is 28 years old, was the guest of the Misses Helen and Blanche Budinger, of Snow Shee. Early on Friday morning the three girls decided to go trout fishing in Wallace Run, which comes out of the mountain near the Dim Lantern tea room. They had gone back into the mountains about three miles and started fishing up stream. About 10 o'clock in the morning Miss Helen Budinger noticed that Miss Webster was no longer in sight, and started to search for her. She was nowhere to be found, so the girls summoned help. The search went on all day, with new groups of volunteers being added to the ranks all the time.

Sheriff Taylor was summoned by alarmed searchers who thought that the unfortunate girl might have become a victim of foul play. Lieutenant Gideon C. Payne, of the 52nd. M. G. Sq., gathered up as many of his troopers as could be found and likewise joined the hundreds of searchers who were by that time combing every foot of the territory.

Finally, about 11:45 in the evening, a searching party came upon an abandoned cabin and found the girl peacefully sleeping, wrapped in an old quilt which she found in the cabin. She courageously chased a large rattle snake from the cot on which the quilt was lying, and not desiring the snake for a bed fellow, went outside and lay down, and when discovered, was none the worse for her experience.

MAY PAVE SPRING STREET

Other Matters Before Council Given Consideration.

At the regular meeting of Council on Monday evening of last week a petition was presented by residents of South Spring St. urging Council to have Spring St. between Bishop and High Sts. paved, the residents to bear ⅓ the total cost which was estimated at $6,000. There is considerable traffic on South Spring St. and the paving project seemed feasible, but was referred to the street committee to investigate and report.

The Decker Motor Co. requested a permit to install two gasoline tanks and pumps at their new garage property on the corner of Spring and High Sts.

Burgess W. Harrison Walker reported that the Borough ordinance prepared by him several weeks ago had been approved and posted.

Council refused to accept the resignation of J. M. Cunningham when same was read, referring the matter to a special committee to urge him to reconsider the situation. Mr. Cunningham has been a live-wire Councilman from the West Ward for 10 years and it is hoped he will withdraw his resignation.

The Street committee reported collection of $32.40 from the Department of Highways for use of the street roller and $4 for hauling stone.

The Water committee reported collections of $30 and several sewer taps.

The Finance committee reported notes due amounting to $37,500 and same were ordered renewed and interest paid.

Residents of St. Paul St. complained of poor lighting service and a recommendation of the Street committee to have the matter attended to was accepted.

Met Horrible Fate.

James H. Giles, Jr., 25 years old, was crushed and horribly mangled on Monday morning while he was at work for the New York and Pennsylvania Co. at the paper mill plant at Lock Haven. He was standing on top of a carload of coal, which was being slowly emptied into a conveyor and crusher, while he did some electrical wiring above his head. Presumably the coal made a sudden and unexpected start, drawing him with it into the machinery on the crusher and conveyor. His fate was first noticed by fellow workmen when the lifeless body was brought up on the conveyor.

Milesburg Boys' Band Festival.

A feature of the big annual festival of the Wetzler's Boys' Band of Milesburg will be the giving away of another Ford car. The festival will be held on Saturday evening, August 16th, at Milesburg.

Prisoners Sentenced at Special Court

Two special sessions of court were held by Judge Henry C. Quigley during the past week. On Saturday morning three cases were disposed of as follows:

Attorney N. B. Spangler petitioned that Fred Myers, sentenced by the Court in December 1923, for illegal liquor traffic, be paroled for the remainder of his term, of from 1 to 2 years in the county jail. The parole was granted on the young man's promise to go to work and obey all the laws of the commonwealth.

A petition was presented for the parole of William Musser, of Centre Hall, convicted on a similar charge, and at the same time. The parole was granted, the Judge, in so doing, made the statement that he (Musser) had better return to the West from whence he came about a year ago.

John H. Detwiler, of Centre Hall, who was judged insane and sent to Danville, August 26, 1923, petitioned the Court for the return of his property to him as he was now fully able to look after his own interest. Testimony was taken to prove his complete return to normalcy and, in view of the court, was so favorable that the petition was granted. The family of Detwiler, in whose custody the property had been for the past year, made no objection to the proceedings.

Five cases, all of a criminal nature, were disposed of at the special session held on Monday morning. They were, in the order of their appearance, as follows:

Harold Askey, of South Philipsburg, 17 year-old youth, was charged with rape. The boy had been before the Court about a year ago, charged with larceny, and was paroled in the custody of the Philipsburg Rotary Club, who intervened in his behalf. In view of the absence of several important witnesses the Court decided to hold the case over until more complete testimony was forthcoming.

The second case before the Court was that of Charles Proboski, 22, and Andrew Preslovich, 18, both of Clarence, charged with the theft of a victrola and a number of records from a hunting camp at the head of Beech Creek. The stolen articles had an aggregate value of about $100. The boys pleaded guilty as charged and were sentenced to three months each, in the county jail. Preslovich, had been before the court about four years ago charged with arson for setting the woods on fire near Snow Shoe.

Abraham Hocen, an Arabian about 31 years old sentenced from 2 to 3 years from Monroe county in May 1923 for larceny and receiving stolen goods, was charged with the crime of escape from the Western penitentiary at Rockview, on the night of July 3. The only defense he had was the statement that he was out working in the fields and got lost from his "gang." This despite the fact that the penitentiary is in plain view of the fields and that he was captured away over in Penns Valley, going strong. He was sentenced from one to two years in the penitentiary to be computed at the expiration of his original sentence.

Charles Carlson, of Snow Shoe, was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He pleaded guilty and according to the statement of the officer who arrested him, is an old offender. The Judge unburdened himself of a few scathing remarks relative to "irresponsibles who endanger the lives of pedestrians and other motorists along the highways," and sentenced him to 3 months in jail.

J. E. McGuire, charged with the theft of a diamond ring, from his cousin, Mrs. George Rhoades, with whom he has been residing for some time, was released at the request of Mrs. Rhoades, and his promise to refund to her the value of the ring, which was about $100.

Three prisoners were arraigned before the court at a special session on July 3. John Musick, of Woodward, pleaded guilty to entering the Reffner store at that place. He was paroled as a farm hand in the custody of Andrew Shivery, of near Bellefonte.

"Dittie" Hendershot, of Bellefonte, who was arrested recently by Officer Lingle, of State College, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, drew a sentence of six months in the county jail. Charles Culp, of Philipsburg, arrested for bootlegging, was given 30 days in jail, plus a fine and costs.

BASEBALL NOTES

Bellefonte Holds First Place in League; State College Behind.

Bellefonte won both its games last week by defeating Millheim on their own field on Thursday, 7 to 3, and Centre Hall on Saturday 5 to 4. The game on Saturday at Centre Hall was one of the most exciting of the season, the score being tied in the 8th. inning when Centre Hall cut loose with 2 runs. However Bellefonte succeeded in slipping a run over in the 9th. which netted them the game, Centre Hall being unable to score in their half.

To make up for their defeats by Bellefonte, both teams took a fall out of State College, Centre Hall walloping them on Thursday, 6 to 3, and Millheim duplicated the performance in a more decisive manner, 12 to 1, on Saturday.

The standing of the clubs is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Percentage
Bellefonte	11	3	786
Millheim	9	5	643
Centre Hall	5	9	356
State College	3	11	214

The games for this week are as follows: Thursday, Millheim at Bellefonte; Centre Hall at State College; Saturday, Bellefonte at Millheim; State College at Centre Hall.

DIAMOND CHIPS.

The game with Centre Hall Saturday was as fast and exciting as has been seen in the league this year. The score was tied in the eighth and the game won in the ninth.

Smith and Lose won a ball game at Centre Hall Saturday, Lose's drive in the first brought home a brace of runs and Smith's two hits each drove in a run, his two-bagger in the ninth putting the game on ice for the locals.

Keller of Centre Hall pulled a Jesse James on Martin's drive in the 7th. The apple was labeled for at least three pillows.

Phil Johnston also wielded a potent bat while the batting laurels are being distributed. He is now setting the pace among the regulars with .355.

Many Cars.

A count of automobiles passing over the bridge in Mill Hall on Sunday from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M., showed 2,904 cars passed during the 12 hours. The most traffic was from 2 to 3 o'clock when the count was 295.

K. G. E. AT CENTRE HALL

First Annual Memorial Service Was Largely Attended.

The Knights of the Golden Eagle of Centre County, including the Lamar and Mill Hall Castles of Clinton County, held their first annual Memorial Service in the Grange Park auditorium at Centre Hall on Sunday afternoon. By 1 o'clock many visitors had arrived in automobiles and Centre Hall's streets assumed a city appearance. At 2:30 P. M. the service began in the auditorium and a very delightful program was rendered. The services were largely attended and some persons who came late were unable to get into the building.

A parade preceded the meeting. It was led by the Coburn band. A large group of children carried American flags and made an imposing feature. Ladies of the K. G. E. and several Castles of the K. G. E. were in line, about 700 persons taking part in the parade.

Bernard M. Stover, chairman, of Bellefonte R. D., called the meeting in the auditorium to order. Those present made the building resound with the song, "America." Invocation was by Rev. Rishel, pastor of the Pleasant Gap M. E. church. Some beautiful vocal selections by a select choir from Centre Hall added inspiration. The Memorial address was delivered by Rev. Gordon A. Williams, of Tyrone, Grand Chief of Pennsylvania K. G. E. Rev. Walter H. Williams, of Hontzdale, also delivered an address. A selection was rendered by the band and benediction pronounced. The meeting adjourned until some time next year, the date to be selected later.

P. R. R. Executives Here.

A number of prominent Pennsylvania railroad officials arrived in Bellefonte on Wednesday morning in a special train. The members of the party were: C. S. Krick, of Philadelphia, vice president of the eastern region; R. V. Massey, Harrisburg, General Manager; J. K. Johnson, superintendent of the Tyrone division; G. L. McCullough, of Tyrone; John B. Large, General Traffic Manager, of Philadelphia; George D. Ogden, Traffic Manager, and M. H. Macquowan, Division Freight Agent, of Altoona. Accompanied by W. T. Kelly, local freight agent, the party spent most of the day interviewing the largest shippers of the community, such as the various lime and stone companies, the match company and others, with a view of learning the business prospects in the near future.

TOWN OF GOVERNORS BENEFITS BY AIR MAIL

May Become Junction Point of Air Service East and West

LOCATION JUST RIGHT

Bellefonte now bids fair to become an important junction between transcontinental mail of the east and west with large cities contemplating using the local field to an advantage in securing most rapid mail delivery. The transcontinental mail service has worked splendidly since it began and a few days ago a member of the board of advisors of the Eastern Aeronautical Society was here from Philadelphia to consider the plan and feasibility of bringing mail here from that city.

It is too soon, of course, to get any definite information as to what his visit and findings will lead to but a few persons who have talked with him and who have the matter in mind anticipate that it is a first step in a movement that will eventually be taken up by a number of large cities that would find Bellefonte a hub, bringing many planes here daily.

The air mail service has been hitting close to a 100 per cent record for several years and the new transcontinental feature established July 1st is paying, according to a reliable source. The government, it is said, will maintain air mail service and can do so without loss, where towns have an average daily mail of 100 pounds. The largest amount of mail, carried west, from Bellefonte on the transcontinental service this month was over 500 pounds, to say the least a very encouraging record.

S. B. MILLER DEAD

Well-Known Civil War Veteran Expired Suddenly at Home.

One of Bellefonte's best known figures passed to his reward Thursday morning about 9 o'clock, when Samuel B. Miller, Civil war veteran and commander of the Gregg Post of the Grand Army of the Republic, died from a sudden heart attack at his home on East Linn St.

Mr. Miller was sitting in a chair, quietly conversing with his wife, when without warning he was seized with the fatal attack and was dead before medical assistance could be summoned.

Samuel Boone Miller was born at Hicksville, O., July 27, 1838, being within a few weeks of 86 years old. He was a son of John and Margaret Boone Miller. On August 31, 1887, he was united in marriage to Amanda, daughter of Major James and Ruth Armor. Although the couple were never blessed with any children, two sons by a previous marriage survive: Hugh J., of Los Angeles, Cal., and J. C., of Ontario, Can. He is also survived by a brother, William A., of Medina, O., and a sister, Mrs. Martha Fish, of Hicksville, O.

Deceased was a member of Co. C., 100th Ohio Volunteers Infantry, and served through the entire war. He was captured by the rebels and spent 7 months in Andersonville prison. He came to Centre County in 1884 and took up the occupation of farming which he followed on the same farm until his death.

Military services were conducted on Saturday afternoon by the local G. A. R. Post, of which he had been the commander for the past 25 years. He was a lifelong member of the Methodist church. Rev. R. E. McKelvey officiated at the Union cemetery, where interment was made.

Orphans' Band Concert.

Monday evening, July 21, at 8 o'clock, the famous boys' band from the Tressler Orphans' Home at Loysville will give one of their delightful concerts on the lawn in front of the jail in Bellefonte. This band has been coming to Bellefonte for a number of years and this is its 10th annual cross-country tour. There are 40 boys in the organization, ranging in age from 9 to 16 years. The concert will consist of light and heavy numbers in such combination and variety that all who attend will be delighted. The concert is free, but an offering will be lifted all of which will go to the Orphans Home. The concert in this town is under direction of the Lutheran church.

Injured in Falling.

Harry Wian, an employe of the Pennsylvania Match Co., was very painfully bruised and cut when he fell while at work on Tuesday morning. He was walking on a plank at what is known as the storage block and the plank broke. He fell about 20 feet. While the injuries are painful, the young man is considered fortunate under the circumstances to have escaped more serious injuries.

WATCH MOTORISTS ON CENTRE COUNTY ROADS

State Patrolmen Stop Many; Speed Traps Taking Toll.

TREATMENT RESENTED

Tourists and local motorists have long felt friendly toward the good roads in Centre County and the cordial reception received practically all along the state roads, but there is some resentment at treatment noted the past week or so in several smaller towns where speed traps were set, it is alleged, for unsuspecting drivers, a number of whom have been arrested and fined, with costs, to the tune of $12 50, so much abused that the "twelve-fifty" term is a familiar one in motordom.

Speed traps are being used in Port Matilda and Milesburg, it is alleged, and just this week a large city newspaper carried a half-column front page story of how motorists were caught in Port Matilda, as well as of the keen resentment felt, some of the motorists claiming that they were not speeding. There is a difference, it must be admitted, between speeding and reckless driving. It seems, however, that local officials should use great discretion in placing under arrest tourists who pass this way and are careful drivers, even if they should slightly go over 15 miles per hour when they do so with no danger to others. A tourist who pays "twelve-fifty" for driving through a town at a slightly greater speed than posted will not likely have a pleasant feeling toward the place and is not likely to be an asset, shunning speed traps. With a little discretion on the part of the officials the towns may be kept safe and the tourists pleased, so that they will come often and do their bit towards making better business and a better community.

The state patrolmen generally hold the respect of law abiding motorists. They have not been in Centre County very much, but were considerably in evidence hereabouts during the past week. Most motorists like to see these men, in their natty uniforms, and they respectfully comply with their requests. They help keep the highways safe and are an asset.

On Sunday afternoon and evening the state patrolmen were on the Nittany valley highway and between Bellefonte and State College. Two of the patrolmen remained together. They stopped many cars and inspected lighting, cards, etc., but so far as could be learned no arrests were made here. During the week the patrolmen have also watched motorists near the fair ground where the carnival company has been attracting large crowds many of those attending the carnival traveling in autos, so that traffic is much heavier than usual.

READY FOR CAMP

Troops Go to Mt. Gretna Early Saturday Morning.

Approximately 200 men will leave Centre County on Saturday morning, enroute to the annual National Guard Encampment at Mt. Gretna. Over one hundred of these men belong to the two organizations stationed at Bellefonte. Troop B has about 75 men, Headquarters detachment 35, and the remainder go to make up Troop A at Boalsburg.

The start will be made from Bellefonte about 5:30 Saturday morning in a special train consisting of 3 coaches, two horse cars and a baggage car. The 27 government horses kept at Bellefonte will be taken along and enough horses to mount all the men will be furnished by the State when the troops arrive there.

The troops at Boalsburg, Lewisburg and Sunbury will be added to the train at those stops so that, taken as a whole, it will be rather large by the time of arrival at Mt. Gretna, which will be about 2:30 P. M. Advance details departed this Thursday morning to set up the tents and police the grounds so as to have the camp ready for the incoming troops.

All mail should be addressed to the particular troop to which the addressee belongs, %52nd M. G. Sqdn., Mount Gretna, Pa. Chatty news letters of the doings in camp will appear in this paper during the encampment, which will end Aug. 2.

Shaffer—Hazel Reunion.

The annual Shaffer—Hazel reunion will be held in the Grange Park at Centre Hall on Thursday, August 21st. This is an annual event to which many look forward with keen anticipation and the public is invited to attend. It is a basket picnic.

SUFFERED SINCE YOUNG GIRL

Words Failed to Express Benefit Received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Texas. — "Words cannot express how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Every month I would have cramps and headache, and I felt like I was freezing to death. I suffered in this way from the time I was a young girl, and all the doctors said was 'operation. For months I had a tired, sleepy feeling all day, and when night would come I would be so nervous I couldn't stay in bed. Our druggist recommended the Vegetable Compound to my husband and he bought four bottles. I have taken every one and I think I have a right to praise your medicine."—Mrs. J. B. HOLLEMAN, 2214 E. Charts for Keeping Record of Daily Work.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A chart, illustrated herewith, designed like the faces of two clocks, one for the forenoon and one for the afternoon, with the hour spaces divided into five-minute periods, has been made by the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture for recording and studying a housewife's daily activities.

The advantage of the dial form is the similarity to the face of the clock. A minimum of time is required to keep a record of work done by this chart. The time does not need to be written for each task accomplished and only an abbreviation of the name of the task need be used. For instance, dw.—for dishwashing done between eight and eight-thirty—could be jotted down in the space the hand of the clock would pass over during this time; or the space covered by a crayon of a color used to designate dishwashing.

Some of the things that a chart like this will show are time spent in sleep, in actual housework, in such enterprises as gardening, poultry raising, picking of fruit for market and home use; in community affairs, in recreation and companionship with the children and in other activities. This will give the homemaker a basis for judging the importance of her different tasks and the amount of time that should be given to each.

Data already secured from farm homes shows that from six to sixteen hours per week, with an average of ten hours, was spent in doing laundry work. The difference in time used for this task in homes having similar conditions indicates that better management either in equipment, methods, or both, in some homes might shorten time and energy consumed in washing and ironing clothes. A daily time record will prove many other facts when used and analyzed.

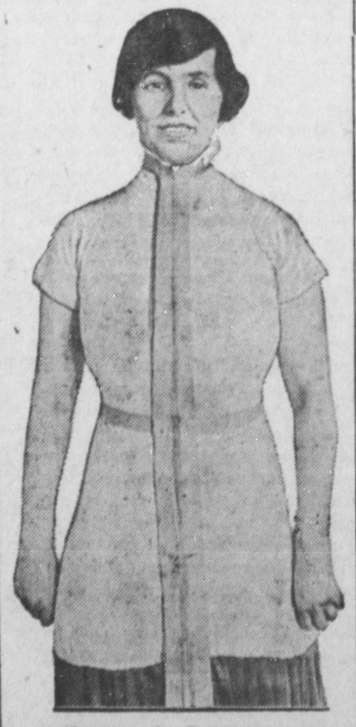
Prints of the chart may be obtained upon application to the bureau of home economics of the Department of Agriculture, Washington.

MAKING OF GUMMED PAPER DRESS FORM

Any Woman Can Fit Own Garments Without Help.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Outstanding among the problems of the rural homemaker, or, indeed, of any housekeeper, is the making and remodeling of the family clothing, especially her own. To meet this need extension workers co-operatively employed by the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges have for several years taught the making of gummed paper dress forms, so that any woman possessing one can fit her own garments without help. By demonstrating the method of making these forms at club meetings a great many women have learned how to do it and have helped to make them for others. The form may be made by one person for another, but if four people join forces, two to paste the paper strips on the model and two to cut and moisten the strips, the person whose form is being made will not have to stand so long.



Starting the Dress Form.

United States Department of Agriculture Circular 207, which gives complete directions for making these forms, will be sent free to any one requesting it as long as the supply lasts.

If the daughter of the family is away at school, college, business, or on a visit, her dress form at home will enable her mother to make and fit clothes for her in her absence.

Among the many uses for such a form, in addition to planning and fitting new garments and altering ready-to-wear garments are pattern making and alteration; adjusting collars, girdles, underwear; remodeling out-of-style garments, and hanging skirts. The position of the shoulder seam, armseye, underarm seam, normal waistline and hip line may be indicated on the form, and also becoming outlines for round, square and V-shaped necks, and the right height for the tops of combinations and camisoles.

Special Means to Keep Different Foods Cool

If no ice is available, good results can be obtained in some climates with an iceless refrigerator, which is described in a bulletin issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, or one of the earthenware devices in which air is cooled by the rapid evaporation of water. Foods may also be kept cool as well as hot in heat-tight containers, such as fireless cookers and vacuum-jacketed bottles. These devices, of course, will not make the food cooler than it was when placed in them.

On some farms the cold water pumped from deep wells for the live stock may first be used to cool foods by running it through a suitable storage box, or a house or box may be built over a spring or a brook. Foods in tight containers may also be lowered into the cool air of the cistern or well, but if the water is used for drinking great care must be taken not to let foods fall into it. Special wells or caves for the cool storage of foods are sometimes constructed.

Accused of Hiring Out to Shoot His Cousin.

Bairdstown, Ky. — "Cherchez la femme!" say the French. And because a woman talked too much Kelly Howard, thirty, mountain feudist, has been tracked to this bluegrass country and captured.

The capture caused echoes to sound concerning a fatal shooting on a lonely creek bed in the isolated section of Floyd county one day last January, when, it was claimed, Howard shot to death his first cousin and one-time best friend, Morgan Shepherd, thirty-five. Howard was going under the name of Kelly Arnett when caught.

Howard was arrested at a small house on the farm of his brother, Reuben Howard, near Deatsville, this county. Howard had been working with his brother after fleeing the mountains. He was sitting at a window when he saw two Floyd county officials approaching. Howard had known both men for years and he knew his arrest impended. So, without arguing with them, he ran. The officer saw Howard, however, and when he did not heed their demands for surrender, they opened fire. Then Howard gave up.

Aftermath of Party.

According to Jerry and T. C. Allen, the Floyd county officers, the mountain murder was the aftermath of a riotous family party back in the hills, during which a woman, Mrs. Moots Allen, was shot to death. Shepherd, the man afterward killed by Howard, was tried and convicted of the woman's killing, but had been granted a new trial.

According to the officers, the commonwealth charges that others who were suspected in the killing, afraid Shepherd would go free, hired Howard, said to be a "dead shot," to kill the accused man. One day in January, while Shepherd and a neighbor, David Wilson, were riding a mule along a mountain trail in a creek bed, with Howard and Bruce Shepherd, a brother to the man later slain, on another mule, Howard drew his pistol and shot Shepherd from the lead animal.

While in jail here awaiting transportation back to Floyd county the prisoner declared the shooting was an accident.

Wife Disclosed Retreat.

The location of the escaped man was learned by the mountain officers when Howard's wife paid him a visit and when a friend "talked too much" to another. The Floyd county authorities expressed apprehension as to the possibility of getting their prisoner home safely. Jerry Allen, the younger of the two officers, exhibited his back, in which he said 157 shot entered three weeks ago when he was waylaid while riding through the mountains. An assassin had hidden in an ambush near the trail and "opened up" on the young officer as he rode past. Allen, however, said the attempt on his life must have been made "in fun."

Howard, of course, was in this county when the attack was made, but he had many relatives and friends in the mountains who may have known Allen was about to come here after the alleged slayer. However, there is nothing to attach suspicion to any of these people, and as Allen has been active against various forms of lawbreaking others may have felt the need of removing him. He expressed no fear of going back to the hills, where he has the reputation of being a "go-getter."

Lad and His Sister Meet for First Time

Anthony, Kan.—Harold Forest Hayter, aged fifteen, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Hayter, had the unusual experience of being reunited to a sister whom he did not know he had.

The sister, now Mrs. Pearl Irene Wilson, wife of the deputy county treasurer of Wilson county, at Fredonia, did not know either that she had a brother and neither knew who they really were, other than they had been adopted as babies.

By chance they recently learned their real names and learned the whereabouts of each other. They had been placed in a children's home at Wichita when small and later adopted by families.

Their father was Claude C. Vargason, formerly of Newton, and their mother is dead.

Flapper Entitled to 25c a Week, Judge Decrees

Yonkers, N. Y.—A new flapper code, designed to regulate the conduct of the young women of Yonkers, was laid down by City Judge Street, when Angelina De Stefano got in wrong with her mamma, Mrs. Jennie De Stefano, who, it seems, regarded the goings-on of her daughter as anything but satisfactory. So she asked Judge Boote to don his judicial wig and gown and tell Angelina where she got off.

"Just what does she do?" the court asked.

"She goes out with other girls," replied Mrs. De Stefano. "She doesn't come home at 9:30 every night, like I tell her to, and she holds out 25 cents of her pay, $15, every Saturday."

"What!" exclaimed Judge Boote. "You mean to tell me that she holds out 25 cents on you every week?"

"Every single week, judge."

Miss De Stefano admitted almost everything. She had stayed out one week two nights until 10:30. She had danced occasionally. She did keep a quarter from her mother.

So the judge enunciated this regulatory code for the Yonkers damsel:

"She can go out with other girls—nice girls.

"She can go to shows. Shows are all right.

"She should be allowed a reasonable amount of her salary for her own use.

"I don't know about dancing. I won't attempt to say as to dancing.

"Any girl who is old enough to work is old enough to be treated as a young woman."

Leaves Fiancee Rich

New Orleans.—A negro romance was revealed here when Mrs. S. S. Dupee received a check for $20,000, as a part of the legacy of Dr. E. H. Brown, negro doctor of Louisville, Ky., to whom the woman was to have been married last December. The death of Brown blasted the romance. Brown also is said to have left to her a residence valued at $15,000 in Louisville and she will soon go there to claim the estate.

TO SAVE JEFFERSON DAVIS' HOME

Memphis House to Be Memorial for Two Wars.

Memphis.—The old home of Jefferson Davis in this city is to be repaired and preserved as a two-fold memorial of the Civil war and the World war.

The quaint old structure is to be maintained in its original plan and design in the midst of a small group of mansions of other days which still stand in the heart of the downtown district.

Veterans of the World war have sponsored the movement, which has as its object not only the preservation of the Davis home for the historical value of its Civil war associations, but also to give Memphis post, No. 1, American Legion, a home that is to serve as a memorial to World-war dead.

Jefferson Davis lived in Memphis two years during the reconstruction period. His home was located at what is now Court avenue and Fourth street, almost within a stone's throw of Main street.

The house was the center of the city's social activity during the brief period the ex-president of the Confederacy and his family lived here.

But when Davis moved away, the dwelling was permitted to fall into decay, and as the business district pushed eastward from the river, it became enmeshed in a crowded district of business structures.

The Legion's appeal for funds has found ready response among the people of Memphis and in the surrounding territory. The Legion asked for $50,000 with which to buy the property and pay for its repair. The major portion of the sum has been paid in, and the first two payments have been made on the purchase price of the property.

STRICT DISCIPLINE FOR BABY SEAL

Mother Faithfully Instructs Young in Lore of Sea.

Ninilehik, Alaska.—Maternal discipline is as pronounced among the hair seal families as among human beings, according to men who have passed many years along the shores of Cook inlet.

From the time a baby seal is laid snugly within a bed of dry seaweed until he receives a final spanking and is directed to rustle for himself, he is subjected to unrelenting discipline.

Contrary to popular belief, a baby seal is as helpless in the water at birth as a human baby would be. It must be taught to swim and instructed in all the lore of seal life, including how to hunt food and escape its enemies.

Charles Coach, who has made hair seal hunting a business for years, says he has watched a mother seal teaching her baby to swim. The mother would flounder out on the rookery, gather the baby under her flipper and slip carefully into the water. Suspending the baby on her flipper, she would bark, grunt, whine and wheedle to indicate what was desired. If the baby refused to perform, it was effectively spanked with the mother's flipper. The young seal gradually learns to swim by floundering a few strokes at a time, with the mother snatching it from danger every time it becomes exhausted or starts to sink.

Some of the beachcombers adopt baby seals as pets. They become as faithful as dogs, and, if one decides to banish them, are as hard to get rid of as cats. An instance was cited where a baby seal was taken out to sea in the hope that it would reunite with its herd. About midnight there was a plaintive wail at the cabin door. Like the traditional cat, the seal had come back. He howled until he was admitted to the family circle and fed a piece of fish.

Hen Seems to Be After Record as Egg Layer

Heizer, Va.—Alice Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Everett of Heizer, has a pet hen named "Sister" that is evidently going after one of the state records as a producer.

Since January 10, until the present date (87 days), the hen has laid a total of 65 eggs, and from the first of April to the 17th she laid 15 eggs, missing but two days, the second and the tenth. The hen is a family pet and comes in the kitchen and lays her eggs in the kitchen rocking chair.

Will Hunt for Ancient Aztec City

Gen. Melville Boynton, mining engineer and soldier of fortune, has left San Francisco with 24 adventurers of that city to hunt for the fabled Aztec city of Bacis in Mexico and its treasure. The city will be found within a hundred miles of Culiacan, according to the general, and will disclose a civilization older than that of King Tut-Ankh-Amen. Above are shown Boynton and Miss Mayme Williamson, artist and former army nurse, who is the only woman in the party.

Five Simple Rules for Bonus Claims

Finger Prints Ordered as Safeguard Against Fraud.

Washington.—Printing of the blanks on which more than 5,000,000 veterans of the World war will make application for adjusted compensation as recently enacted, is well under way.

The blanks will be distributed among the veterans through newspapers, the Post Office department, the American Legion and other patriotic societies in touch with the veterans. Within a comparatively short time every veteran is expected to have received a blank and made application for his bonus.

Although a drive will be made to get the applications immediately, no cash payments will be made before March 1, 1925. Adjusted service certificates will be dated January 1, 1925, if the application is made prior to that date. If it is made after that the certificate will be dated the first of the month following the application.

As soon as the bonus bill was passed over the veto of the President, the War department issued instructions as to the proper method in applying for the bonus. Finger prints will be used on the applications as a method of identification.

This is done to protect veterans and their dependents from fraud and to provide identification in the future.

Five Rules Established.

Rules formulated by the War department in connection with application for a bonus read:

"1. Do not write for application blanks. These will be distributed as soon as prepared, and unnecessary letters will only create confusion and delay.

"2. Read carefully the instructions which will be printed with the application blank.

"3. Do not pay fees other than a notary charge. The law prohibits any person for charging a fee for assistance in collection of the compensation.

"4. Do not write the War department for any information required by the blank. If the individual has not the information, supply it as best he can from memory. Inquiries to the department would only serve to delay the case by the double search of the records which would be involved.

"5. Mail application blanks in the envelopes which will be distributed at the same time. This will facilitate receipts of applicants at the proper office."

The scale of payment under the bonus bill is differentiated between home and foreign service, as is pay in the army and navy. The home service pay is based on a scale of $1 a day, and that of foreign pay is based on a scale of $1.25 a day.

How to Figure It.

How an ex-service man who receives a paid-up insurance policy under the bonus bill may figure the maturity value of his policy at death or at the end of twenty years follows:

First, total the number of days served at home and overseas and deduct 60 of those served at home, which are excluded as having been covered in the $60 bonus paid upon discharge after the armistice. Multiply the days served at home by $1 and the number of overseas by $1.25 and add the results.

Eliminate all above $625, if any, as that is the limit of basic pay allowed. If the veteran had only home service the limit is $500.

Then find in the accompanying table the factor opposite the age of the veteran at his nearest birthday next spring and multiply the basis pay total by the factor. The result will be the maturity value of the policy or face value at death.

For example, if a veteran served 560 days at home, his basic pay is $600, eliminating the first 60 days. If his age is thirty, his factor is 2.524, which if used to multiply $500, gives a total of $1,260, the value of the policy. If the veteran had 360 days at home and 100 abroad, his basic pay is $625, which, if multiplied by 2.524, gives the policy value at $1,577.

Following is the table of ages and factors:

Age.	Factor.	Age.	Factor.
20	2.545	43	2.439
21	2.544	44	2.426
22	2.542	45	2.413
23	2.540	46	2.398
24	2.539	47	2.381
25	2.537	48	2.364
26	2.535	49	2.345
27	2.532	50	2.324
28	2.530	51	2.302
29	2.527	52	2.279
30	2.524	53	2.254
31	2.521	54	2.228
32	2.517	55	2.201
33	2.513	56	2.172
34	2.509	57	2.143
35	2.504	58	2.113
36	2.498	59	2.082
37	2.492	60	2.050
38	2.485	61	2.018
39	2.478	62	1.986
40	2.470	63	1.954
41	2.460	64	1.921
42	2.450	65	1.889

All veterans up to and including the rank of captain in the army and marine corps and lieutenants in the navy are eligible for the bonus.

British Island Tipping Eastward, Expert Asserts

London.—The Island of Great Britain is tipping eastward, and has tilted several feet in that direction within the last 300 years. This statement was made by C. H. J. Clayton recently in a paper read before the Society of Engineers at Burlington house.

Catch Shad in Baskets

Norfolk, Va.—Down at the Lake Prince dam, in Princess Anne county, a few miles from Norfolk, they are catching buck shad with baskets and rakes or any implement that will haul a fish out of the water. A big run of the fish has come up from the sea. Stopped by the dam, they have gathered there by thousands and motorists are bringing home all they can carry.

Send Photographs Over Phone Lines

Device Successful in Cleveland-New York Test.

New York.—Transmission of photographs from Cleveland to New York city over long-distance telephone lines was accomplished in a demonstration by laboratory experts of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The method, achieved after several years' work, was described by officials of the company as a "simple, rapid and accurate transmitting system." It will be installed on the company's various long-distance lines, it was announced, in accordance with the demand which arises for this type of service.

Cleveland was selected as the place for the transmitting station, so that pictures taken at the Republican national convention might be transmitted to New York within a few minutes. Actual transmissions showed that photographs could be transmitted to New York and made ready for producing newspaper plates within ten minutes from the time the original photograph was placed in the transmitting machine.

The pictures transmitted were five inches by seven inches in size. Messages in handwriting also were transmitted, the copy received being a facsimile of the original message.

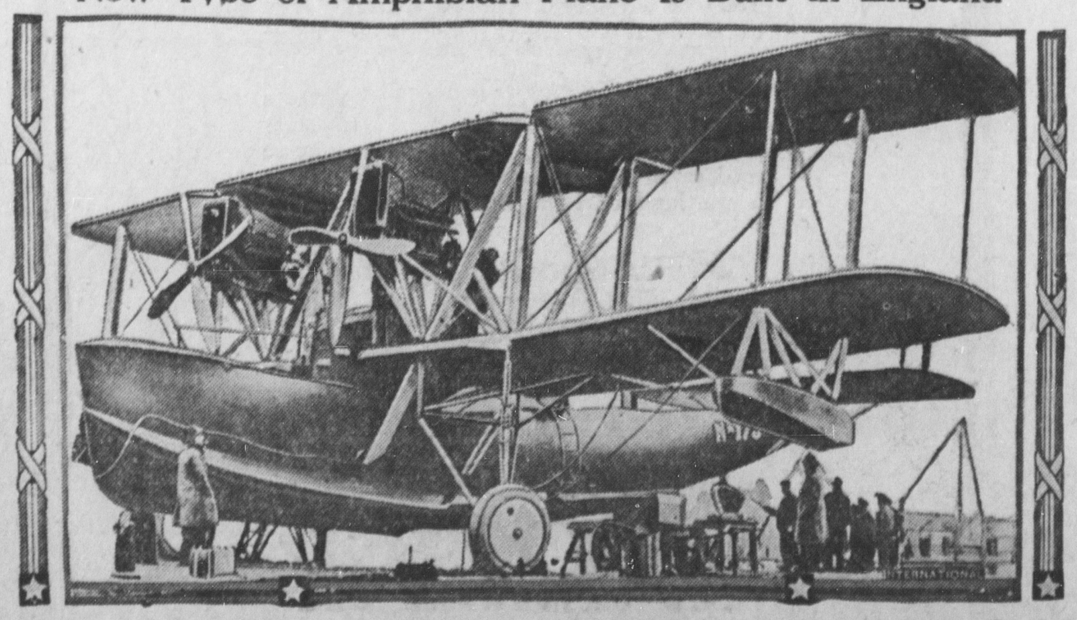
In sending a picture, the original is placed around a cylinder within which there is a photo-electric cell. On another cylinder in the receiving office an unused film is placed. Both cylinders revolve in synchronization. During the operation a very small but intense beam of light is thrown on the original photograph, passing through the film to the photo-electric cell with an intensity proportionate to the lights and shades of the original picture.

By the aid of a new device known as a light valve, a beam of light, varying in intensity in exact correspondence with the original beam received by the photo-electric cell, is thrown on the film onto which the picture is being transmitted. The receiving cylinder revolves, the ray of light moves gradually from one end of the cylinder to the other end. When the end is reached the film is ready for development.

New Type of Amphibian Plane Is Built in England



Above is shown the first twin-motored amphibian plane ever built and which recently passed all tests. The plane has been turned over to the British air ministry. It is fitted with two 360 horsepower Rolls-Royce "Eagle IX" engines and is one of the new type of planes being developed by the civil aviation department of the air ministry for commercial purposes. The amphibian is designed to carry 12 passengers, a pilot and an engineer. It is capable of taking off and landing on land or water.

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD YOUTH PREVENTS WRECK OF TRAIN

Discovers Earth-Slide in Canyon in Time to Stop Destruction of Freight.

Portland, Ore.—Oregon's youngest hero is Warren Loffer, age eight.

He prevented a train wreck, perhaps saved some lives at West Fork, Ore., and the Southern Pacific railroad was not slow in acknowledging what this little son of a section hand had done.

Warren was walking along the railroad track near his home, in a big canyon, walled by high mountains.

There was a rumbling, and a great mass of earth, stones, trees and other debris came down in an avalanche over the track. The rails were covered for a depth of six feet. The slide was near a big curve.

Warren's observation told him that if a train came around that curve, nothing could stop it from plowing into the slide. He knew the train would be hurled down the bank if it hit the obstruction.

So, as fast as his legs could carry him he ran down the track toward the railroad station. It was more than half a mile away.

Warns Station Agent.

There was a freight train due at any moment. As he paused to pant for breath a warning whistle echoed from down the canyon. The train was approaching.

The boy hurried on. Finally he got near enough to the station agent to shout his warning. The station agent couldn't hear what the boy cried at first, but a second shout told him and he moved the big levers that set the block arms.

In a moment the heavy freight came rolling in, and stopped.

The little boy sat down on a pile of rails, panted for breath, and forgot all about it.

But in the busy offices of the Southern Pacific in Portland an official read a report. E. L. King, superintendent of the Portland division, wrote out a check. Now Warren Loffer has a nice start toward a savings bank account.

Canine Hero Saves Fox Terrier From Drowning

Salem, Ore.—Salem claims the honor of having a dog whose nerve is not exceeded by any in the country.

While wandering along Mill creek Shep, owned by P. M. Hill of this city, discovered a small fox terrier puppy floating helplessly down the stream. The animal apparently was exhausted and was unable to reach the bank. Shep plunged into the stream and brought the puppy to shore. Not content with this feat, Shep then picked up the terrier with his teeth and carried him to the home of his master.

Word of the rescue was sent to local veterinarians, who applied restoratives and saved the puppy from death.

He and Wife Meet in Jail

Long Beach, Cal.—While Frank D. Jackson, fifty-five, of Pittsfield, Mass., a prisoner, was asleep in the city jail recently his wife and ten-year-old son applied for a bed in the same place. Husband and wife had not seen each other for ten years. Jackson was arrested here on advices from Pittsfield, pending investigation of bigamy and desertion charges against him. Police here report he deserted his wife and four children ten years ago.

Cat Had Ten Lives

Pittsburgh.—Artisans were placing the last of the marble slabs around the walls of a bank in Pittsburgh when a cat was discovered behind the slabs. All efforts with cream and other dainties failed to coax her out; neither could she be caught with wire hooks or other devices. The whole day was wasted while the marble setters waited. Finally a small boy—a very small boy—crawled into the crevice and brought out Tabbie—and nine kittens.

Nerves Warn Woman of Earth's Shocks

"An Englishwoman of peculiar sensitiveness has for many years past been able to report almost every earthquake in all parts of the world before any news came in," writes Prof. H. H. Turner in the Quarterly Review.

"She suffers from a curious nervous tension, as though under the influence of electricity, which almost incapacitates her while it lasts, but leaves suddenly. She has consulted several doctors, but none of them has been able to relieve her."

The woman had a "bad attack" on September 9 last year. On September 11 came news of a considerable shock in India two days previously.

"The testimony is unexceptionable and indicates a line of inquiry which has hitherto not been explored. It may supply unsuspected information both to seismology and to physiology."

WILL THE YEAR 1924 BRING THE END OF THE PRESENT AGE?

"How long shall it be to the end?"—Dan. 12:6.

2,500 years ago this question was first asked. It was then answered by four periods, but their meaning was "sealed till the time of the end," when it was promised, "The wise shall understand."

The time has come! The time-lock has been opened by the discovery that all four periods culminate in a single year—1924!

All interested in prophetic study should secure a copy of the booklet "How Long to the End?" which explains in detail the Four Periods and the method of determining that the mystery attached to them is now disclosed—or "finished."—Rev. 10:7.

Kept Hobo Hustling to Fill Engagements

Willis Booth, president of the international chamber of commerce, said at a luncheon in Philadelphia:

"Our prosperity is amazing. To find poverty anywhere nowadays is like finding a needle in a haystack.

"They say a rich charity organization gave an out-of-work a four-course dinner the other day, and then urged him to turn up the following evening at a supper they were offering the unemployed.

"But the man consulted his engagement book and then said:

"'Sorry, but I'm full up, for tomorrow, folks—fish breakfast at the Refuge for the Homeless, lunch at the Destitutes' Assistance league, turkey dinner at the United Church charities, and midnight Bowery supper in the Screen Stars' Shelter for Homeless Hoboes.'"—Detroit Free Press.

Seeds of discontent will take root in any soil.

Appalling Problem Confronts Americans, Life Tables Show

Average health span extends only from age 18 to age 31—Earning power dwindles rapidly after 40

Health—physical freedom and full vigor—ends at age 31 for the average person. Maximum usefulness ends at 40. These facts, shown by the United States Life Tables, 1920, form the most appalling problem every human being has to face!

What are the years after 40 going to mean to you? Will they be worth living? Can you earn your way during those years?

Not if you are "the average individual." What sort of person is "the average individual" in America? He works hard. He eats unwisely. He loads his body with drug stimulants, which appear to give energy, but actually borrow this energy from his own reserve.

Age 31—and he begins to slip. The reserve strength which his body sought to store up against these later years, has bit by bit been robbed. Age 40—he suffers loss of income. Age 50—what?

Remember the simple laws of health which everyone learned in school. Avoid stimulants. Avoid the sleepless hours, upset digestion, warning headaches, taut nerves and muddy complexions which so often accompany the use of the drug caffein.

Caffein is classified as a poison. Like strychnin, it is sometimes given by doctors in cases of heart failure. The average cup of coffee contains the usual dose of caffein administered in such cases. The alarming foolishness of taking this poison regularly into the system is borne out by the frightful limitation of health and usefulness as compared with the length of life.

You need the digestive aid and comfort of a hot drink. You can get such a drink without drugs. You can get it with a flavor which millions of people consider more delicious than any other. You can get it in a form which contributes, rather than robs, reserve strength.

CHILD KILLED

Jean Heverly, of Howard, Victim of Auto Accident.

An automobile accident which plunged the community of Howard into sorrow, caused the death there on Sunday, July 6, of Jean, the 2½ years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heverly, of that place. Leaving Sunday school with her mother, the child started to run across the street to her grandmother, Mrs. John Boone. She ran directly in front of a car driven by George Williams, at one time residing in Bellefonte, but for some years past living in Howard. He was driving slowly at the moment the child suddenly appeared in front of his car. He turned sharply to the side of the street in a desperate effort to avoid an accident. But, try as he would, the wheels of the car passed over the child's body. She was carried into the nearby office of Dr. J. Will Kurtz, where she died 15 or 20 minutes later from internal injuries,

The accident happened in the full view of many persons directly in front of the Christian church chapel. But it happened so quickly that comparatively few persons saw the child knocked down and run over. By persons who were looking in that direction when the child was struck, Mr. Williams was fully exonerated from all blame. Even so, he has been extremely nervous as a result of ill health for some time past, and the sad tragedy so weighed upon him that restoratives had to be applied to quiet him when he realized what had happened. His grief could not have been greater had the child been his own.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Christian chapel, in Howard, and were largely attended.

President's Son Dead.

Calvin Coolidge, Jr., 15 years old son of President and Mrs. Coolidge, died from blood poisoning at Washington last Wednesday. A shoe which rubbed his foot while he was playing tennis caused a blister to develop, and septic poisoning followed. Burial was made at Plymouth, Vermont.

BROKE THE RULES

A small girl with her mother was watching two men at work in the hall of a public building. They were kneeling in the middle of the vast expanse of flooring and repairing the mosaic with minute pieces of colored stone, carefully fitting them together in a gigantic jigsaw puzzle.

It was a business the maiden understood perfectly.

After two or three minutes one of the men lifted a small piece of stone that was not quite the right size, placed it on a small block and began to chip the edge. The child was astonished at such a breach of the rules of the game.

"Oh, mummy, look!" she cried. "He's cheating."

ACTED AS GUIDE

"He called on her and simply sat there lost in admiration."

"What did she do?"

"Finally showed him the way out."

Medical Advice.

"Thermometers in summertime
You never ought to buy;
They're lower in the wintertime,"
Says Dr. Ezra Spry.

Asking a Great Deal.

"Everybody should know how to sing 'The Star Spangled Banner.'"

"That's right in theory," replied Senator Sorghum. "As a matter of fact, it would require a good many of us to devote an enormous amount of time to taking music lessons."—Washington Star.

Cause of His Bravery.

She—I gave popper a new pair of bedroom slippers; oh, they're so soft and nice.

Timid Suitor—Has he got 'em on now?

She—Y-yes.

Timid Suitor—Darlin', give me a kiss—and, darn it, I don't care if he hears it.

That's Different.

Foreign Visitor (proudly)—In my country we have one law for prince and pauper.

American Pauper—Same way here. It doesn't matter whether a man is a beggar or a millionaire, he's got to obey the law, unless he's got a pull.

IN COURT

Judge—Your wife says you succeeded in dodging her questions.

Defendant—Yes, your honor; but got hit by most everything else.

No Chestnuts in Garden of Eden.

Whatever trouble Adam had,
No man in days of yore
Could say when he had told a joke:
"I've heard that one before."

Surfeited.

"Anybody playing this new game 'Pung Chow' in Crimson Gulch?"

"No," answered Cactus Joe. "Three-Finger Sam, who is now sheriff, went up in the air the first time he heard it mentioned an' forbid it. He says 'punk chow' is all he had all the time he was in the army."

Heart Still in the Same Place.

"When we were first married you sent me flowers and matinee tickets."

"Henrietta," replied Mr. Meekton, "customs change with time. I'm spending just as much now buying groceries and tickets for your lectures."

Thrills.

"Your constituents say your speeches are not as thrilling as they used to be."

"I'm not trying for thrills any more," said Senator Sorghum. "We public men have got to appeal with calmer methods. There's no use of us tryin' to compete with the scenario writers."

AN OLD SAYING.

Postman — A penny for your thoughts.

Poet—What do you mean?

Postman — There's a cent due on this returned manuscript.

Should Say Not.

A girl today,
If she can raise the price,
Will never wear
The same complexion twice.

One Out of Many.

Ed—I met the most unusual girl last night.

Bill—Oh, they're all that way for the first time.

Ed—No, not this one. We went to eat and she said she wasn't hungry, and she really wasn't.

A Real Helpmate.

"She certainly makes a good wife for him."

"So?"

"Yes. She even treats her husband's business friends as though she really cared for them."

George W. Lucas Dead.

George W. Lucas, of Philipsburg, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. A. Hoffman, at Bloomsburg, on July 6th. Mr. Lucas was one of Philipsburg's most honored citizens and was a member of the John W. Geary Post No. 90, G. A. R., who conducted an impressive ceremony at the Philipsburg cemetery, where the body was brought for interment. Members of the American Legion acted as pallbearers. Deceased was born at Unionville, Feb. 22, 1848, and was a son of Foster and Emmaline Lucas. He spent the early years of his life as a farmer in Bald Eagle valley, and later entered the trade of his father, who was a tanner. About 40 years ago he removed to Philipsburg, where for many years he acted in the capacity of street commissioner. He is survived by the following children: W. Burton, of Greensburg; Anna, wife of Calvin Jones, of Philipsburg; and Mrs. H. A. Hoffman, of Bloomsburg. One brother and two sisters also survive: Curtis Lucas, residing in the West; Mrs. Will Witmer, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. William Peters, of Milesburg. Among the friends and relatives who attended the funeral on Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. William Witmer, J. P. Smith, Mrs. Carrie Huntzinger, Mrs. Jennie Tressler, Mrs. Anna Doll, William Witmer, Roy Witmer, all of Bellefonte; Mrs. George Bullock, of Unionville, and Mrs. William Peters, of Milesburg.

Mrs. Mildred Fleck Dead.

Mrs. Mildred Hughes Fleck, wife of Guy F. Fleck, died Wednesday at her home in Altoona, following a stroke of paralysis, although Mrs. Fleck had been in failing health for about a year. She was born in Bellefonte Feb. 11, 1876, the daughter of William and Ellen, and went to Altoona with her parents early in life and had resided there ever since. Her marriage to Mr. Fleck took place on June 14, 1900. Mrs. Fleck was a member and active worker in the Third Presbyterian church of Altoona, was affiliated with the F. G. Bowler Bible class and was highly esteemed among a large circle of friends and acquaintances. Surviving are the husband and two daughters: Mrs. Clyde Kinkead and Mrs. Wayne Schucker, both of Altoona, and three grandchildren, Raymond and Shirley Kinkead and Robert Schucker. Her father, William Hughes, and the following brothers and sisters also survived: Mrs. Maude Berkey, of Blairsville; Mrs. John McCune, Mrs. Myrtle Keagle, Miss Pearl Hughes and Chester Hughes, all of Altoona.

Mrs. Emma J. Royer Dead.

Mrs. Emma Jane Royer died at her late home at Rebersburg on July 3, at 7:30 P. M., from neuritis, aged 77 years, 9 months and 24 days. Deceased was born in Miles Twp., a daughter of the late Jeremiah and Susan Haines. She married Thomas E. Royer, Sept, 22, 1867. Surviving this union are two children, Mrs. Susan Long, of Council Bluffs, Ia., and Henry H. Royer, of Rebersburg. Funeral services were held from the late home on Monday by Rev. Mr. McClellan. Mrs. Royer was an active member of the Lutheran church for 61 years. She was a life-long member of the Woman's home and foreign missionary societies. She was held in effectionate esteem by many friends, and her passing away is sincerely mourned by those who were privileged to know her intimately.

Miss Dorothy Watson Dead.

Miss Dorothy Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Watson, died at the home of her parents at Snow Shoe, July 6. She was a girl who was noted for her sweet disposition, and was formerly one of the most popular members of the younger set of Snow Shoe. She contracted a severe case of typhoid fever while in training at St. Joseph's hospital at Philadelphia. While on the road to recovery complications developed which made it advisable to physicians to send her home, thinking that the change would aid in her recovery. Accordingly her parents brought her home on June 10, and for a time she seemed to improve rapidly, but for the past two weeks she had been sinking rapidly until death finally claimed her. She is survived by her parents and two sisters.

W. G. Meek Dead.

Wilbur Glenn Meek, of Altoona, died last Thursday at the Altoona hospital, death being due to uremia. He had been a patient in the hospital for 8 days. He had been ill since February, 1923, when he suffered a stroke. Deceased was a native of Fairbrook, Centre County, and was born Aug. 25, 1861, a son of Robert and Susan Meek. He was employed as a storehouse attendant at South Altoona and had also spent some time in the shops there. Surviving are one brother and three sisters. Mrs. C. H. Rodgers, of Monmouth, Ill,; Edgar Meek, of Enid, Okla.; Misses Blanche and Anna Meek, of Altoona.

John E. Barry Dead.

John E. Barry, one of Altoona's best known retired employes of the Pennsylvania railroad, died in that city on Tuesday, July 1. He was aged 72 years. Mr. Barry was married on Feb. 23, 1876, to Miss Elizabeth Wagner, of Altoona. The widow survives as do also 12 children. One brother, S. T. Barry, of McKeesport, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Haines, of Bellefonte, alsosurvive.

Mrs. Anna Parsons Dead.

Mrs. Anna Melissa Parsons, wife of S. M. Parsons and for 70 years a resident of Tyrone, died at that place last Friday evening, death following a stroke of paralysis suffered several years previously. She was the daughter of William and Sarah Port and was born at Ironsville, near Tyrone, May 6, 1846. She was united in marriage with Mr. Parsons on Oct. 1. 1867, in Tyrone, by Rev. George Warren, then pastor of the Methodist church there. She is survived by her husband and daughter Porta and son Thomas, of Tyrone; Mrs. S. Wilson Hoffman, of Altoona; John H. Parsons, of Crafton, and Mrs. William Cowher, of Port Matilda. She is also survived by two brothers: Clarence E. Port, of Tyrone, and Clyde A. Port, of Salem, Va.

Mrs. Alice Funk Dead.

Mrs. Alice E. Funk, wife of L. C. Funk, died at her home at Lamar on Monday morning from complications. She was 68 years old and had been a member of the M. E. church for many years. She is survived by her husband, 7 sons and 2 daughters, as follows: Oliver, Centre Hall; Daniel, Neponset, Ill.; John, North Bend; Robert, Lock Haven; Lester, Hyner; Harry and Ralph, at home; Mrs. Ray Snyder, Linden Hall, and Mrs. William Moodler, Lock Haven. Funeral services were held in the M. E. church at Lamar this Thursday morning by Rev. Lester Lewis, of Salona, and Rev. Jacob Zang, of Clintondale. Burial was made in Millheim cemetery,

Mrs. Nancy Uhl Dead.

Mrs. Nancy Uhl, widow of Christian Uhl, died on July 3 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Long, on East Howard St., from a complication of diseases brought on by her advanced age of 88 years. Deceased was born in Brush Valley, and was a daughter of Thomas and Barbara Fredericks. Her husband preceded her in death 40 years ago. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. John Long and Mrs. Scott Lambert, of Bellefonte; Mrs. John Forcey, of WilkesBarre, and Mrs. William Kerstetter, of Pleasant Gap. Burial was made on Monday in the Union cemetery.

Auto Damaged on Hill.

Alfred Bottorf, of the firm of Bottorf Brothers, of East Bishop St., Bellefonte, escaped injury, but his new Willys-Knight roadster was damaged considerably about the front in a collision on a hill at Cedar Springs on Sunday about the noon hour. Mr. Bottorf said that a car from Williamsport attempted to drive by another car and ran head-on into the Willys-Knight recently purchased by himself.

William W. Rhoads Dead.

William Wallace Rhoads, of New Liberty, died at the Philipsburg hospital on July 8 from acute indigestion. Deceased was aged about 68 years and is survived by his wife and the following children: Harrison, Edward, Michael, Percy and Mrs. Roy Umholtz, of Tyrone; Mrs. Howard Ewes, of Stormstown, and Mrs. Howard Peters, of Stormstown.

M. H. Davidson Dead.

M. H. Davidson, a native of Union Township, died on Tuesday morning at his home in Philipsburg. Deceased was born on a farm near Unionville on Jan. 1, 1868. He married Jennie Hagg 46 years ago. For the past 30 years they resided in Philipsburg. Surviving are the widow, eight children, one brother and four sisters. Mrs. Amanda Comly and Mrs. Hannah Way, both of Unionville, are the only survivors residing in Centre County.

Henry A. Gentzel Dead.

Henry A. Gentzel, formerly of Spring Mills, died on Wednesday of last week at his home in York. He was 83 years old. Surviving are one son, Robert, of Beaver Falls; a daughter, Miss Mayme, at home, and one brother, George Gentzel, of Spring Mills. The body was taken to Spring Mills and burial made in Georges Valley cemetery.

BOY BURNED

Lock Haven Boy Nearly Electrocuted at Chemical Lime Plant.

In a heroic attempt to save his companion from possible electrocution near the Chemical Lime plant along Buffalo Run, Chester Tressler, 9 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Tressler, of Lock Haven, received 2200 volts of electricity from a high tension wire. He was so terribly burned that he now lies in a critical condition at the home of his parents at Lock Haven.

Tressler had been visiting at the home of relatives, Lewis Grubb and James Rager. Accompanied by Lewis Grubb, the boys started out to fish in Buffalo Run creek. Grubb was carrying a steel fishing rod. They took a short cut over some ash piles near the Chemical Lime plant, and in so doing the steel rod carried by the Grubb boy came in contact with the high tension wires which are close to the ground at that point. He was knocked to the ground and lay writhing and screaming, unable to release his hold on the rod. The Tressler lad ran to him and took hold with both hands in an attempt to pull him away. A complete circuit was then formed, the Tressler boy receiving the full charge.

Physicians say that the burns on his foot are liable to render him a cripple for life. The Grubb boy, while not as seriously burned as his cousin, has a bad burn on one hand and one foot.

BUYS BRICK PLANT

J. H. France, of Philadelphia, Takes Over Operation at Clarence

J. H. France, of Philadelphia, formerly of Philipsburg, purchased the plant of the Snow Shoe Fire Brick Co., at Clarence and will operate it in the near future. The plant has been idle for some time.

Mr. France was one of the organizers of the firm of W. H. Wynn & Co., at Blue Ball, in 1889, and in 1911 was one of the organizers of the General Refractories Co. which now has a dozen or more big plants located in various sections of the state. He was general manager of the General Refractories Co. until January of this year. He is also a director of the First National Bank of Philipsburg.

Mines in the Morgan Run clay field owned by Mr. France are already in process of development to supply the Clarence plant with the raw material.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Kato Man, His Ears Filled With Cotton, Couldn't Hear Whistle.

Paul Yatchick, aged 65 years, a resident of Kato, was struck and killed almost instantly by the engine drawing the east-bound passenger train on the New York Central railway due at Beech Creek at 12.23 p. m. last Thursday. The unfortunate man was walking on the track in the same direction as the train was running, when the accident occurred. The engineer saw him and blew the whistle repeatedly, but, as was afterward discovered, Yatchick's ears were plugged with cotton, probably placed there for some ear trouble, and rendering him deaf.

The accident happened about a half mile above Kato. The train was stopped, and as the victim was discovered to be still alive, he was taken to Beech Creek, the nearest town, where a physician could be procured. However Dr. George Tibbens, who was summoned, found that death had already taken place.

The body was removed to the Bechdel undertaking establishment and Coroner Heaton, of Philipsburg, summoned. After an examination by the coroner and Dr. Tibbens, the former decided that an inquest would not be necessary. The man's head was crushed at the base of the brain, although his face was not disfigured. The body was shipped to the late home at Kato where funeral services were held on Saturday.

Deceased was a Slavonian, well known in the Snow Shoe district, where he had been a resident for many years. He is survived by a wife and daughter.

SILK MILL CLOSED

Business Depression Blamed for Closing of Local Plant.

Approximately 150 men and women were thrown out of employment last Saturday when the Bellefonte plant of the J. H. & C. K. Eagle Silk Co. was closed down for an indefinite period.

According to officials of the company, the silk business has materially decreased in the past few months to such an extent that it has become necessary to close some of their plants, and the one in Bellefonte being the last erected, was naturally the first to be closed in all fairness to other towns with plants of longer standing.

C. J. Weitzel, superintendent of the local plant, who recently came here to take the place of the genial "Danny" Heim, who was in charge for several years before he resigned to enter the lumber business, will be transferred to the main plant at Shamokin. John F. Smith, recently graduated from the executive school which the company maintains at Shamokin, will be transferred to some other town, also. Only one employe, a watchman, will be retained in Bellefonte. Many girls from surrounding towns will be thrown out of employment, as well as several skilled mechanics who looked after the plant machinery.

OVER THE COUNTY

Mart Cooney and Walter Baney cleaned up in the horse races in Snow Shoe on July 5, taking first and second places respectively with their prize animals.

"God bless everybody" were the last words uttered by John Dailey, 38-years-old Allegheny County murderer, as he sat in the electric chair at Rockview on Monday morning, July 7, to pay the penalty for the murder of his wife, at Pittsburgh, 2 years ago. His remains were unclaimed and interment was made in the prison cemetery.

Fourth of July celebrators in Beech Creek were evidently rather careless, as a bullet of large calibre crashed through the window of the residence of Mrs. G. Thomas Furst, of that place, and lodged in the opposite wall of the room. Fortunately no one was in the room at the time so aside from the damage to the window pane and to the plaster, nothing was hurt.

Word was received recently by the parents of Corporal Allison Martin, who is serving with the U. S. Coast Artillery forces in Hawaii, that he had been thrown from a horse and sustained injuries of the back while training for a rodeo to be held on the Fourth of July. The young man wrote that his injuries were not serious and that he was recovering nicely.

Edward Reese, of Queens Run, employed as a mule driver in the mines at that place, was killed recently when his Overland car skidded over a 10-foot embankment, at a turn in the road near Lockport. The dead man was found the morning following the accident, pinned underneath the car. Deceased was a brother of Mrs. James Beeddel, of Clarence, and was well known in that vicinity.

Poisoned by Water.

Three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Homer McKinley, who reside in Nittany valley, nearby Nittany, Wilfred, 15, Russel, 12, and Clarence, 10, who, with their parents, were visiting relatives in Bloomsburg over the Fourth, were poisoned in some inexplicable manner, so that all 3 became seriously ill. They had been eating cherries and it is thought that these, combined with the water of that section to which they were not accustomed caused the illness of which the two younger boys were the worst afflicted. All are now recovering nicely.

DAVIS AND BRYAN

Nominated by Democrats for President and Vice President.

John W. Davis, of New York and West Virginia, was nominated for President by the Democratic national convention in New York city last Wednesday night on the 103d ballot. Governor Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, was nominated for Vice President. The latter is a brother of William Jennings Bryan, who was several times the Democratic candidate for President.

Davis, the presidential nominee, is a wealthy corporation lawyer, representing chiefly the Morgan and Standard Oil interests and other powerful factors in Wall Street. It was because of this fact that he was opposed in the convention by William Jennings Bryan. To please the latter, his brother was put on the ticket for Vice President.

William Watkins Dead.

William Watkins, 75 years old, died at his home at Orviston, Thursday June 26. He had been in failing health for some time but was not confined to his bed until a few days before his death. He was a member of the Church of Christ, having been baptized by Rev. Merrick. In addition to his wife, he is survived by the following children: Mrs. Thomas Croft and Mrs. Rolland Felmlee, of Orviston; Mrs. Fern Showers and Dick Watkins, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Edward Bullock and Oscar, of Akron, O.; Claude, of Mill Hall, and Fred, with whom he made his home. His remains were laid to rest in the Fairview cemetery of Boggs township, Rev. Johnson, of Orviston, officiating.

THE greatest asset that a bank can have is the confidence of the people with whom it transacts business.

This confidence is based not only on the bank's financial strength but on the character of its management.

When people think of a bank they have in mind an individual; some one active in the conduct of its affairs, whom they feel they can trust. The sharp, shrewd dealer, ready to take every advantage has no place in a properly conducted bank.

The interests of the depositor and of the bank should have equal place in the mind of the true banker.

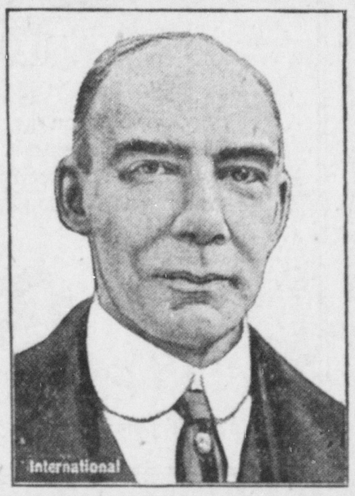
WHO'S WHO—and WHEREFORE

Smith, Leader of American World-Flyers

Here is an up-to-date portrait of Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, acting commander of the American airmen in their around-the-world flight. Lieutenant Smith took the place of Maj. Frederick L. Martin, who was lost for ten days when his plane was wrecked in Alaska. So it was he who led the flight from Alaska to Japan. The crossing of the Pacific by air was a real feat. Cablegrams signed by Secretary Weeks and Major General Patrick, congratulating them on the successful crossing from Alaska to Japan, make this clear. Secretary Weeks' message said:

"Congratulations. Yours is the honor of being the first to cross the Pacific by air. Through its army and navy our country has the honor of having led in the crossing of both great oceans. The army has every faith in your ability to add the circumnavigation of the globe to its achievements." General Patrick, the army air service chief, cabled: "Your flight to Japan was epochmaking and second only in importance to the completion of the entire flight."

Congress Asked to Buy Lincoln Relics



Representative Henry R. Rathbone of Illinois (portrait herewith) has a bill in congress providing for the purchase for $50,000 of the famous Oldroyd collection of 3,000 Lincoln relics, pictures and documents in the house in Washington where Lincoln died. Oldroyd is eighty-one. He has refused much larger offers for the collection, but he wants it to be the property of the nation and he wants it kept where it is. He cannot bear the thought of the collection being removed from its historic setting or of its being broken up. Said he:

"You know, it was in that back room yonder that Stanton said, 'Now he belongs to the ages,' when Surgeon Taft looked up and said that Mr. Lincoln's pulse had stopped. It was in that room that Robert Lincoln fell a-weeping on Charles Sumner's shoulder when he heard those words. The floor of the room is the same as it was on that April night fifty-nine years ago. The wall paper is the same, the old steel engraving of the village smithy that hung above the bed on which Mr. Lincoln died still hangs on the wall."

Rathbone's father and mother were guests in the Presidential box the night Lincoln was shot and his father, an army officer, was wounded by Booth.

Uncle Sam to Pay Senator's Doctors?

A bill appropriating $7,500 to recompense Senator Frank L. Greene, Republican of Vermont, for medical expenses incurred as a result of being shot on a Washington street several months ago was introduced in the senate by Senator Lodge, Republican of Massachusetts. Lodge offered no explanation, but it was said there were ample precedents for the passing of such a bill, which is certainly out of the usual run. It was passed.

Senator Greene and his wife were walking. Several shots were heard close by. He sprang in front of his wife, received a bullet in the head and fell into his wife's arms. It was thought for some time that the wound was fatal. A prohibition agent was shooting at some alleged bootleggers.

Senator Greene served in the house, beginning with the Sixty-third congress and entered the senate in the Sixty-eighth congress, succeeding Carroll S. Page. His term ends March 3, 1929. Senator Greene was born in Vermont in 1870 and left the public schools of St. Albans at thirteen to become a messenger boy in the Central Vermont railway. In 1891 he left the chief clerkship of the freight department to become a reporter for the St. Albans Daily Messenger. In 1899 he became editor. He left his desk to recruit a volunteer company for the Spanish-American war and served as a captain in the First infantry, Vermont volunteers. He has been prominent in the politics and public affairs of his state.

Must Railroad Heads Begin at Bottom?

When Patrick E. Crowley became president of the New York Central upon the death of A. H. Smith, it was duly set forth that he began his railroad career as messenger boy on the Erie. His predecessor also began as messenger boy. This started a discussion as to whether it was necessary for railroad presidents to start at the bottom. Certainly a good many of them have done that very thing.

C. H. Markham (portrait herewith), president of the Illinois Central, started as a track laborer. So did Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio. E. Pennington, president of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, began as a warehouse man. William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific, was a freight clerk, and W. G. Besler, president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, was a trainmaster's clerk.

C. R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific, and T. M. Schumaker, president of the El Paso & Southwestern, got their introduction to the industry as telegraph operators. F. D. Underwood, president of the Erie, and C. E. Schaff, president of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, started as brakemen. J. H. Hustis, president of the Boston & Maine, began as a messenger. J. E. Gorman, president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, and W. T. Noonan, president of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, were office boys at first. H. E. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, was a call boy. A number of railroad presidents began as engineers and as attorneys.

Restore Traffic on Mississippi

Army Engineers Build Dams to Make River Navigable to St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn.—From the windows of the train as it winds its way along the Mississippi between Chicago and the Twin Cities one may note innumerable odd-looking structures of brush and stone jutting out into the river. Some are but a few yards long, others a hundred yards or more. From a distance they look not unlike boat docks.

At points where the train makes a curve, affording a sweeping view up or down the river, the passenger may see a score or more of these projections within the space of a mile or two.

In reply to the curious passenger the trainman explains that they are "Government dams," and the passenger, settling back in his seat, accepts the explanation, but wonders why in the world Uncle Sam is building such a string of queer-looking dams. For at no point do they entirely span the river and they do not have the massive appearance of the ordinary river dam.

All along the Mississippi, from St. Paul down to St. Louis, these wing or spur dams, as they are officially known among government engineers, may be seen. Three thousand have been constructed between Minneapolis and Prairie du Chien, Wis., and about 1,000 more are to be made. Their purpose is to narrow the channel of the Father of Waters so as to maintain a depth of six feet throughout the length of the upper Mississippi at low-water stage. In other words, these dams form a straight jacket by which it is hoped to put the great waterway in navigable shape for freight-carrying boats, which have been virtually unknown on the upper river for ten years and more.

Making the River Navigable.

For half a century and more government engineers have been "disciplining" the Mississippi. In the days before the Civil war, Robert E. Lee was assigned by the War department to do engineering work on the river. The real improvement work, however, began back in 1878, when the government sought to establish and maintain a minimum channel depth of 4½ feet. In those years, in ordinary seasons, a freighter could come all the way up the river to the Twin Cities. But in some years the stage of water ranged down to less than three feet, making it impossible for the larger boats to get above Winona, Minn., thus interfering greatly with regular river traffic. It was to correct this fault and make the river navigable every year from St. Louis to the Twin Cities that the improvement work was inaugurated and maintained. To date something like $33,000,000 has been spent, and while the army engineers make a claim of substantial results, there is yet much work to be done before the project is complete.

The present project was started in 1907 and at the close of the last fiscal year it was estimated that $13,900,000 had been expended on it. The work at that time was about 53 per cent complete.

The engineering theory of the project is quite simple. The Mississippi is a widening, more or less intractable stream that spreads itself out over the entire river bed. This is done at the expense of the main channel through which the boats must travel. To curb this wanderlust on the part of the Mississippi, the government engineers are building this system of dams on both sides throughout its course. They serve to discourage the river from spreading its waters over the wide valley and by contracting the stream within narrower limits the dams help in washing out the main channel and making it deeper. The engineers aim to provide a channel ranging from 300 feet wide at the upper end to 1,400 feet at the mouth of the Missouri.

River Solidifies the Sands.

Dams are made of brush and stones, the brush to divert the water and the rocks to hold the brush in place. The longer the dams stand the firmer and more impenetrable they become. At first the river spreads out between two of the new dams, finds itself obstructed, and recedes, depositing sand between the dams. As this process keeps up eventually a new river bank is built up, vegetation appears and nothing short of a flood will drive the river up over the new bank.

At some points along the river the engineers find it advisable to riprap the banks with brush and stone to prevent them washing out and at other points, where the stream has wandered off into a slough, closing dams have been constructed, blocking the river from such forays. All of this work tends to throw the main body of water into a narrower, deeper channel with the ultimate aim of providing a navigable waterway throughout the season to the head of navigation, the Twin Cities.

This goal is in sight. For the first time in years a barge carrying a cargo of freight from St. Louis and other down river points reached the Twin Cities this spring. There are three or four other barges in this fleet, and the company operating them hopes to maintain a regular schedule throughout the season. How well they will succeed is a question. All the rivers and streams in this section are low this year and will be yet lower before the summer is over, when the spring freshets and rains have spent themselves. Then will come the real test of the river.

Last year a passenger boat from St. Louis tried to reach the Twin Cities. It made fairly good progress until it got beyond Winona, the first real "port of call" in Minnesota. Then it began to encounter difficulties and finally had to abandon its trip entirely at Hastings, Minn., some 20 miles below St. Paul. With due allowance for the extremely low stage of water last year the army engineers in charge of the river work nevertheless maintain that a boat properly built and handled can navigate to St. Paul today at low water stage.

Two new barges going in service this year are designed especially for the upper Mississippi river. They are built to operate in less than a six-foot water stage. But before there can be a genuine revival of river traffic, say the engineers, there must be more adequate terminal and transfer facilities at the cities and towns along the river. A start has been made in that direction, but that is about all. At Alton, Ill., a transfer unit has been installed with railroad connections, and an expeditious method of moving freight to a from cars or wagons and boats has been provided. This transfer is owned by a railway company. A commencement has been made by construction of sea walls and in some cases installation of railway tracks at St. Paul, Minneapolis, Davenport and Muscatine. All of these proposed terminals are municipally owned and will be available for public use.

Ford Plans to Use River.

A recent factor in the revival of this river traffic is Henry Ford. He is now constructing a $10,000,000 manufacturing and distributing plant at St. Paul. It stands on the banks of the Mississippi and his engineers have indicated that they propose to utilize the river to the fullest practicable extent in transporting materials and products to and from the St. Paul plant.

After the enforced winter layoff, government crews have resumed their work of "straitjacketing" the upper Mississippi. Crews with dredges are working out of St. Paul and Rock Island. There is a stretch of about 665 miles between the head of navigation at St. Louis, and the progress of the work depends largely on the appropriations made each year by congress. It is expected that all funds now available will be exhausted by June 30, 1924, and an appropriation of $1,500,000 is now being sought to carry on work for the next fiscal year. It is estimated that the amount of money needed to complete the project is $11,703,000.

This work applies only to the upper Mississippi, that is, between the Twin Cities and St. Louis. From St. Louis on down another and greater project is under way. When both are completed, which will not be for some years to come, there will be a commercial waterway approximately 1,900 miles in length. The upper portion of this waterway is navigable about eight months of the year. And some river enthusiasts hope to see the time when Lake Superior will be connected by water with the Gulf of Mexico, 2,000 miles to the south.—New York Times.

Off the Streets After 8 o'Clock in This Town

Weston, W. Va.—Bright lights, dancing and jazz are not to be tolerated in certain sections of West Virginia under an ordinance passed by the town council of Glenville, seat of the Glenville State Normal school.

The ordinance prohibits any boy or girl under eighteen from being on the streets after 8 p. m. unless accompanied by parents, or going to or from church.

Permission is granted to those under that age to attend public gatherings with written permission from their parents. A curfew bell is to be sounded each evening at eight o'clock.

Steel Ring on Neck His Good Luck Piece

It Was Oriental Sailor's Gift From Father as First Son and It Has a Charm.

Tacoma, Wash.—Ah Ding, a seaman on the sailing schooner Tseng Tai, wears a steel ring about his neck, placed over his head the day he was born, twenty-three years ago, by his father in recognition of being the first-born. Today the ring is a close fit, but brings good luck to the oriental salt. Ah Ding, who is a world traveler, declares he has seen flappers wearing rings as bracelets, wives as finger decorations, African belles as nose ornaments, and sees no reason why he should not follow his own national custom and wear his around his neck.

The ring also insures a good joss, so Ah Ding never lacks a job. Sailing boat captains are eager to obtain the services of head-ringers like him and bid high for such good luck men. In certain regions in China fathers place steel rings over the heads of first-born sons to assure luck and happiness and long life. In six months Ah Ding has survived six typhoons, two battles with pirates, a fight with Swedish sailors, three sieges of fever, the Japanese earthquake and a ride on an office building elevator.

Save California Forests of Redwood to Posterity

San Francisco.—Redwood trees with a value of approximately $1,000,000 have been saved for all time in central and northern California through the efforts of the Save-the-Redwoods league.

The league was organized less than four years ago. Individuals and lumber companies have donated lands valued at $500,000 to the movement. The state, Humboldt county and citizens have contributed $475,000 in money to the movement for purchasing other lands.

"And yet the movement has just begun," said Dr. W. F. Bade, an official of the organization. "While 14 miles along the Redwood highway have been preserved, there are several hundred miles, many of them heavily timbered, which should be preserved. We look forward to the establishment of a national redwood park of at least 20,000 acres."

To Use Radio to Teach Africans How to Farm

Washington.—Natives in the heart of Africa will be able soon to perform their ancient ceremonial dances to the strains of jazz through a radio loudspeaker, and will be given instructions in modern agricultural methods in the same way under plans of British officials of Kenya colony. Trade Commissioner R. A. May at Alexandria, Egypt, has advised the Commerce department that plans already have been made to install a radio set with loud-speaker in every village. Besides daily musical programs, he said, farming instructions will be sent to the natives in their own language.

TALKS BURGLARS OUT OF ROBBERY

Criminal Lawyer Saves Jewelry Worth $4,000.

New York.—Frank W. Stanton, lawyer, of No. 1132 St. Nicholas avenue, adjoining Washington Heights court, told police of West One Hundred and Fifty-second street station he had talked two burglars out of robbing him of $4,000 in jewels.

He was returning from a boxing match to his home, No. 605 West One Hundred and Seventy-fifth street, he said, when he saw lights in his apartment. Suspecting burglars, he cried: "Don't shoot, I've got my hands up!" as he entered. He found the burglars had taken a pearl necklace, diamond pin and diamond studded wrist watch.

"Go ahead, I won't resist," he said to the intruders. "The joke's on me. But I've been defending guys like you 19 years."

"What do you mean?" one of the burglars asked him.

"Well, I'm Frank Stanton, criminal lawyer," he replied.

"Prove it," said one of the thieves.

Then, Stanton told police, he showed the men cards and letters, whereupon one of the burglars exclaimed:

"Well, I'll be blowed! Here, take your stuff back. We wouldn't rob you."

"If I had talked to them ten minutes longer I believe I would have had their bank rolls," the lawyer said.

He added he did not recognize the burglars, although he thought it possible they might have been among clients he has defended.

Tree in Jersey State Sports a Felt Bonnet

Newark, N. J.—A tree has been discovered that wears a hat. It is a felt hat and a good deal remains of it, considering that from all indications the tree has been wearing it for the last twenty-five years. In a swamp near Chatham, N. J., stands the 20-foot cedar that claims the distinction.

The hat circles the trunk of the cedar at a height of about five feet from the ground. The trunk pushes straight up through the crown of the hat for 15 feet, and a pair of sturdy branches grown out since the tree impaled the hat are at a distance of about a foot above it.

Despite its age and weather-beaten green hue, the hat remains in excellent condition and, according to the opinion of a manufacturer, in its present condition will last indefinitely. A tree expert, in trying to ascertain the length of time the hat had girdled the cedar's four-inch trunk, made comparisons by use of a trunk section of similar dimensions. His measurements showed a growth of about an eighth of an inch in the trunk per year, from which he estimated that it would take more than fifty years for the cedar to enlarge sufficiently to break through the hat and cause it to fall.

Gold Ring Saves Life of Ten-Year-Old Boy

Tecumseh, Neb.—The life of Gerald Brown, ten years old, was saved by a gold ring in his breast pocket when a cartridge exploded. The lad was trying to insert a cartridge in the cylinder of a .22-caliber revolver.

The cartridge stuck and the boy, failing to press it in with his fingers, placed the muzzle of the barrel of the weapon close to his left breast as he tried to drive the cartridge in with a hammer. It exploded with the weapon directly over the heart.

The bullet struck a gold ring in the child's pocket, ricochetted and struck a rib, following the rib around his side and came out under the arm, dropping to the floor. The boy was taken to a hospital, his wound dressed. He will soon be out.

Why His Horse Vanished

Williamsport, Pa.—Placidly plowing preparatory to planting corn, Thomas, Tule, a farmer residing near Williamsport, received the shock of his life when one of the horses disappeared. An investigation showed it had fallen into a hole seven or eight feet deep, but was uninjured. The Tule farm is underlaid with limestone slowly disintegrating through dissolution by water. The horse stepped on a "weak" spot, which caused its sudden disappearance.

Cursing Costs a Dime

Alexandria, Va.—Cursing in the Alexandria police station hereafter costs 10 cents for each offense. What is dubbed a profanity box has been put up and the police see that the toll is collected from all violators. Funds are coming in rapidly. The money goes to charity.

The AMERICAN LEGION

RADIO IS USED TO TELL OF WAR WORK

The fact that a great many girls and women enlisted in the United States forces during the World war has escaped general attention. A flair was made at one time about the yeomanettes, but was soon forgotten.

Now comes Helen E. Bucking, commander of Women's Post No. 118, of the American Legion at Norfolk, Va., as the first woman veteran of the war to use the radio in telling what she and her compatriots did towards winning the war. The speech was delivered from station WTAR and resulted in a wide dissemination of knowledge concerning the part played in the war by the woman.

All the members of women's post served in the navy as yeowomen during the war, or as overseas nurses. The post has made a distinct hit with the citizens of Norfolk because of its work in the hospitals, Commander Bucking declared, in her address. Disabled ex-service men, needy veterans, hungry veterans—all find succor at the women's post regardless of reasons. When other welfare agencies turn down the veteran, the women's post puts him on his feet—and has been doing this work for four years, Commander Bucking said.

Tuberculous veterans are indeed grateful to the women's post as being most instrumental in getting immediate care for them. Even the nurses and physicians in hospitals are enthusiastic in talking about the work done by the women's post which is one of the very, very few in existence in the country.

In the three government hospitals located at Norfolk were many men sufficiently active to make beautiful handmade goods. The women's post found this out and arranged to dispose of their goods. They rented a store, gathered the work from the three hospitals and made attractive their window displays. They spent money on advertising, talked to Rotarians, Kiwanians, Civitans and other bodies; used moving-picture slides and urged men to bring their wives, and women to bring their husbands to the exhibit and sale. Folders were sent out. The newspapers gave much-needed publicity. And then it was that Commander Bucking got on the radio and broadcast a story of her post and what it was accomplishing for the disabled veteran.

More than five hundred articles were sold, a woman in Florida writing with a check to a friend asking her to buy something. In Wisconsin a woman did the same. The sale of disabled veteran products will become a regular feature of the women's post's activities. And Commander Bucking, whose photograph is reproduced, is entitled to the credit for the go-getting spirit that put the women's post in the forefront of activities for relief of disabled men.

Wisconsin Post Needs Just One More Member

American Legion officials in Burlington, Wis., are worried.

The annual membership drive went over to the satisfaction of the post—the members secured surpassed the membership of 1923. But when a revision of the roster was made the total was found one short of the quota expected of the post by department headquarters. Because the territory has been thoroughly combed for members, post officials believe that they may have to import a veteran to obtain the needed member.

Music for Post Ball

Vincent Lopez and the Hotel Pennsylvania orchestra recently furnished music for the dance of the Oneonta post of the American Legion in New York. Lopez had been making a number of appearances in the state, and agreed to play for the Legion men on the occasion of their annual ball.

Visited War Gas Plant

Delegates to a district convention of the American Legion held in Midland, Mich., were guests at the Big Dow Chemical plant where many of the most deadly of war gases and other chemicals are manufactured from salt brine.

INDORSES LEGION

THE Michigan department of the American Legion recently held a concentrated membership drive and called upon the governor of the state for an indorsing statement. Governor Groesbeck declared he was not only willing but eager to indorse an organization which he believed was one of the most constructive forces for good now at work in this country.

From my observation," said Governor Groesbeck," the American Legion is a most worthy organization. It has accomplished much that is of benefit, and the longer it exists the more good I believe it will bring about.

It should not be a difficult matter for the organization to secure the application of every man entitled to a place on its rolls. Through a greater membership you will not only be able to better your own conditions but can be of much more assistance in every effort which has for its purpose a better and more patriotic citizenship."

LEGION BOY SCOUT TROOP MAKES GOOD

Possibilities of a troop of boy scouts, when sponsored by the American Legion are seen in the recent report of the Legion's troop in Collinsville, Okla.

During the past year the troop acquired a building of its own, through the generosity of one of the local church congregations and the boys, assisted by the Legion men placed this in shape, wiring, painting and redecorating and furnishing the building.

One of the principal activities of the troop was undertaking of a religious census of the entire city. This was prepared for use of the local churches.

The Legion maintains a free scout camp at Lake Euchee, which is made the center for hikes and other activities. One of these hikes was a "father and son" hike, on which the scouts were hosts.

The troop is entirely interdenominational and closely resembles the make-up of the Legion in this respect. Eight Baptists, thirteen Methodists, eleven Presbyterians, eleven Christians, two Assembly of God, one Nazarine, and one Christian Scientist are in the troop.

Will Plant Wild Rice to Feed Game Birds

In order to provide a feeding place for migratory game birds, and for preservation of wholesome conditions in Beaver Dam lake, a large amount of wild rice will be planted in the lake by Wisconsin Legionnaires.

The rice is a great feed for wild ducks, and is said to restore healthful conditions wherever planted. Its planting will be made by a group of Legion men under supervision of state experts.

The Beaver Dam veterans take a great interest in the lake and its surroundings, hoping to keep it as a location for game fish, bird life and plant life. A few months ago, the Legion men seined the lake free of carp and rough fish, selling five carloads in eastern markets as a result of their efforts. Then the state game and fish conservation commission provided a carload of "rescue fish," mostly game fish, which were planted in the lake.

Veterans of Virginia Approve Registration

Success has attended efforts of Commander John J. Wicker and other Legionnaires in Virginia in securing registration of veterans in that state, that all might vote in regular elections.

This was made one of the principal objectives of the Legion during the past year, and according to reports from the state's posts furnished Commander Wicker, only a few members of the Legion have not availed themselves of the opportunity to exercise their right of franchise. At least eight posts of the state have qualified with every member as a voter. These are located in Strasburg, Louisa, Cape Charles, Smithfield, Berryville, Abingdon and Marion.

The work was under direction of a citizenship committee, headed by Allan S. Clarke of Danville, and with members in every congressional district in the state.

Plan Georgia Convention

Among attractions listed for the annual department convention of the American Legion in Georgia this year were addresses by Wilder S. Metcalf, member of the Legion's national finance committee, and Gen. Robert L. Bullard. The convention was held in Savannah, June 5-7. Dances, boat rides and other events provided entertainment for the visiting Legionnaires.

Bronze Medal for Courage

A bronze medal for the most courageous act during the year in the community has been offered by the Cleo J. Ross post of the American Legion in Titusville, Pa. The award will be confined to the city schools and candidates will have their standing in honor scholarship, leadership and service taken into final consideration as well as that of courage.

Dance and Party Frocks; Latest Knitted Jumper

EVERY little frill, the broad ribbon sash, and the flaunting flare of the diaphanous georgette frock shown in the picture herewith seems to say "I'm going to a party." It is typical of the evening gowns which youth is wearing this season.

Valenciennes lace traverses the skirt in two-by-two rows and then does the same around neck and sleeve edge. There is a front panel in the skirt, of shirred net, which looks as if it might be an inspiration drawn from an old French print of some beauteous lady of the Louis XVI period. The frock is a faint peach shade, with the same color in deeper tone for the wide sash.

Ornate and Picturesque Party Frock.

As if to atone for the uncompromising severity of the boyish tailored suit types for the day, frivolities and furbelows abound to the extreme of indulgence on dance and party frocks.

Lovely indeed are the airy, fairy tulle dresses, with their billowy skirts and bodices quaintly decked with applique flowers. Pastel shades register particularly in these ingenue tulle frocks, but none are of greater charm than the all-white creations, so exquisitely girlish in their simplicity.

Dance frocks of youthful conception have long capes of georgette to match. Such was the lovely ensemble displayed in a recent salon exposition of modes for the younger folks. The gown of deep apricot georgette was trimmed in sheer silk lace dyed to match, the entire enveloped in a long straight cape of the same transparent crepe. This is but a foretaste of what we may expect in the way of entrancing effects this summer when this fashion is fully launched.

The idea of trimming chiffon or thin crepe frocks with lace the exact shade, dominates throughout the mode.

That the sweater is a supreme requisite throughout sports costume, we all agree. Perhaps it is more accurate to say sweaters rather than sweater, for of such attractive persuasion and infinite character are they, the well-ordered wardrobe includes them in the plural. Indeed, one is almost justified in coining a slogan "a sweater for every occasion," since they range from the most exquisitely filmy lacelike affairs to sturdy man-styled designs defiant of wind or weather.

Once a sweater always a sweater, holds good even though it appear in the guise of a jacquette, golf or mandarin coat, slip-on, tuxedo, jumper, sleeveless or long sleeved, or any other form of knitted outerwear style classification.

The sweater in the accompanying picture, according to modern translation, is a jumper, although you never would guess it at first glance, for it has every appearance of a jacquette of latest approved fashion. Fact is, however, it slips over the head, the deep opening extending to the wide hip border. Combining, as it does, the simplicity of a slip-on with the more formal aspect of a jacquette, this model is of twofold popularity. Its coloring, too, makes appeal, knitted as it is now in the new powder blue with rainbow striped border.

Colors for this summer's sweaters bear such interesting titles as honeydew, terrapin, strawberry, orange, tangarine, orchid, narcissus and the smartest new shades are American Beauty and fuchsia. In all fashiondom, particular stress is placed on gray, and this is especially true throughout knitted outerwear. The mode calls for gray sweaters, or gray predominates with color vagaries in the designing, these gray-knitted blouses worn with gray plaited skirts.

Knitted Jumper Simulates Jacquette.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Board Urged Miss Eckert to Remain Superintendent.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Centre County Hospital was held on Monday evening, July 7, at the hospital. Business was transacted as follows: The bond of Edward H. Owens was presented and approved. Payment on subscriptions, which was formerly sent to H. E. Fenlon, should now be sent to E. R. Owens, Bellefonte, Pa.

At the request of the board, the resignation of Miss Eckert as superintendent of the hospital, which was presented at the last board meeting was withdrawn. This means that the present splendid staff of nurses will remain.

The building committee had the architect and his engineer present to go over in detail the proposed plans for the building improvements which will begin immediately. The heating plant and the foundation for the new wing will be the first to receive the attention of the contractors.

Finance—W. T. Kelly, chairman; W. Fred Reynolds and W. S. Shelton.

Medical and Nursing—Ralph Mallory, chairman; F. A. Carson, John Blanchard.

Building and Property—H. S. Moore, chairman; J. Laird Holmes, Calvin Troup, Edward R. Owens, T. A. Pletcher.

Publicity and Publication—Wm. T. Kelly, chairman; W. Edgar Williams, Prof. E. C. Woodruff.

Supplies—Edward R. Owens, chairman; W. S. Shelton, Ralph Mallory.

Monthly Visiting—(To be appointed by Women's Auxiliary.)

Doing Good Work.

Union cemetery in Bellefonte is being so well cared for and the results are so gratifying that it seems in keeping to note the pleasing changes made. From an inside source it has been learned that contributions are continually being received by the directors and that the money is being used to best advantage. Any person who desires to contribute to the fund for caring for and making the cemetery more beautiful may send it to the Treasurer, Bellefonte Cemetery Association, marking the contribution to be used in the fund for cemetery improvement.

REVERSE KELLEY DIVORCE

Superior Court Says Domestic Strife Not Sufficient Cause.

"Waning ardor, coolness and domestic troubles," are not sufficient grounds for a divorce in the opinion of Judge Trexler, of the Skperior Sourt at Philadelphia, in a decision last Thursday reversing the decree of Judge Eugene H. Baird in granting a divorce to Thomas F. Kelley, from his wife, Martha E. Kelley, formerly of Mill Hall.

In his opinion, the Judge reviewed the married life of the couple extending over a period of 17 years from 'an humble and no doubt happy beginning' at which time the husband earned only $750 a year, and they continued their martial existence until it ended unhappily when he was earning an annual salary of $16,0.0. They had 11 children, 9 of whom are living. The court excused her displays of vexations and irritation as due largely to caring for such a large family, and said that such grounds were not sufficient for divorce. Mrs. Kelley is now living in Philadelphia.

Mr. Kelley has been in ill health for some time.
